DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on November 21, 2008 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the European reference (EP 0718024 A2) in view of the European reference (EP 0294588 A2).

4. EP '024 discloses a process for removing carbon dioxide from an air stream, comprising removing water with an alumina drying agent, then subjecting the dried air to a PTSA cyclic adsorption system containing a low silicon NaX zeolite (page 2, lines 39-57, page 3, lines 8-49). The zeolite has a silicon to aluminum atomic ratio of 1.0-1.15 and can have substantially all of its exchangeable cations sodium ions or may have potassium ions. Adsorption can be carried out at 30-60° C and 1-10 bar, and desorption can take place at 10-200° C and 100-2000 millibar (page 3, lines 50-58). The instant claims differ from the disclosure of EP '024 in that the zeolite is agglomerated with a binder with a residual inert binder content of less than or equal to 5%.

Art Unit: 1797

5. EP '588 discloses a zeolite X for removing carbon dioxide that is formed into pellets with 1-40% by weight of clay binders (page 2, lines 35-37, page 2, line 51 to page 3, line2). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to pelletize the zeolite of EP '024 in order to provide an adsorption bed having a low pressure drop due to open spaces that exist between zeolite pellets, and to use a low inert binder content in order to maximize the amount of adsorbent available for air treatment.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed November 21, 2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that the instant claims are not rejectable over the EP '024 and EP '588 references because the European Patent Office issued a denial of a European Opposition to the corresponding EP patent. The examiner appreciates that the EPO office action has been issued with respect to substantively the same claims as those in the instant specification, however because the action is in French, it is unclear why the opposition was denied and what basis the examiner can rely on to agree or disagree with. The previous rejection is maintained because the examiner believes there is sufficient motivation for one skilled in the art to use a binder with low inert residual. A translation or explanation of why the references are not combinable is needed for consideration of withdrawal of the rejection. Even if the EPO has decided the claims are patentable over the EP '024 and EP '588 references, it is possible that the examiner may not agree, or that the claims would still be unpatentable in the US because of different patent laws.

7. The indefiniteness and new matter rejections have been overcome with the amendment and are withdrawn.

Art Unit: 1797

Conclusion

8. This is a RCE of applicant's earlier Application No. 09/623801. All claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the earlier application and could have been finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the next Office action if they had been entered in the earlier application. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL even though it is a first action in this case. See MPEP § 706.07(b). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no, however, event will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
